

Certification protocol

As the regulator, we are responsible for certifying members. As such, we are allowing 3 types of certifications:

1. CPDOA - Certified Professional Dental Office Administrator
2. CPDOM - Certified Professional Dental Office Manager
3. CPDC - Certified Professional Dental Consultant

The association will make an effort to provide accreditation to relevant educational programs. Students graduating from an accredited program will be qualified to take the exam towards certification. Accredited educational programs will be listed on the association website on a designated page.

Certification paths for CPDOA - Application Fee and exam: $325; Certification/Renewal Fee $290:

Applying to become certified can be done throughout the year. There will be a cut-off date for applicants interested in taking the next exam. The result of the application will be a decision whether an applicant has fulfilled all necessary requirements and is qualified to take the exam.

2 Exams will be created for each Certification, the first is the general exam and the second is for re-examination:

CPDOA: The exam will be comprised of 50 multiple choice questions. Cost $290.

CPDOM: The exam will be comprised of 50 multiple choice questions and 3 case studies. Cost $690.

CPDC: The exam will be comprised of 5 case studies and 30 multiple choice questions. Cost $990.

All exams will be re-created once a year by the Certification Committee. If an applicant does not pass the exam, they will be able to appeal, through the exam grading appeal form or take a second exam, after paying a re-examination fee ($250). Appeal of the grade may be done through the "Exam Grading Appeal" form and will include a fee of $299. The certification committee will review the request and will reassess the application as a whole. The answer to the applicant will be made in writing within 30 days after receiving the request and payment from the applicant. If the appeal is rejected, the applicant will not lose the ability to apply for re-examination. Failing the re-examination, a candidate will have to submit a new application and pay the application fees again.

Renewing the certification will require a Certification Renewal form submission with renewal fees. There will be a deadline to submit the renewal. Late fees will apply (late fee $250). If renewal is not submitted within 90 days after expiration, the member will be notified of the revocation of their certificate and the need to re-apply for a new certification and additional fees (as per the original outline of first-time certification). New certification application and any renewal of any path requires a signed and dated Code of Conduct.

Review of all applications will be done by the Certification Committee. The exams will be graded as follows:

1. The multiple-choice component will be graded by the answer sheet, which will be created as part of each exam and will be called "Exam Appendix I".
2. The case studies' answers will be reviewed and graded by the certification committee in the form of how close an answer is to the answer guide, which will be created as part of each exam and will be called "Exam Appendix II". The grade will be on a 1-10 scale, where 1 refers to "not close at all" and 10 refers to "all principals covered".

In order to pass the exam, one will be required to answer 75% or more of the multiple choice questions correctly. As for the case studies section, the average grade for all case studies must be 75% or higher in order to pass.
